Jason Beresford

Jason is a local author and teacher who writes superhero books (The Fabulous Four Fish Fingers, Frozen Fish Fingers). He is available for author events where he will take an assembly and do workshops. He can do half days or whole days and is very flexible. The Children's Bookshop would provide books that the children can purchase and have signed. This is NOT free, but the price is negotiable depending on what he does.

If any school is interested in this, please contact the shop and we will provide you with further details.

Hardback Picture Books

We have some hardback picture books at paperback prices. They are much more durable so come and have a look at the selection.

Book of the Month

We have a school in Nottingham who have asked us to send a new picture book each month which they feature in an assembly and then use in various literacy classes depending what it is. This is something newly published. They are very pleased with how it is working and we would be happy to offer this to any other school. We can post it out (at a cost) or you can collect from the shop.

The teacher concerned described it as "getting a birthday present every month".
